

More than 40 million people in this world was born and still living in captivity. And more than 15 million of them are children.